'Higher Education Avenues abroad and Job opportunities after BBE'

Department of Business Economics organised Student Mentorship Program under Peer Support System, wherein Mr Nipun and Mr Ritik BBE 3rd year students, briefed the department students about 'Higher Education Avenues abroad and Job opportunities after BBE'. It gives us immense pride in sharing that Mr Nipun Rana would be joining M.Sc Economics in London School of Economics and Mr Ritik Monga has qualified job interviews with Bain and DE Shaw and is awaiting an offer from McKinsey.

Peer Support System is a Student Mentorship Programme, an initiative taken by students of Business Economics Department kickstarted with its first session on 26th April 2022 at 12:30 pm. As the name suggests the idea behind this mentorship programme is to pick and train students from department for different pursuits of their lives and making their transition into workforce and higher studies a bit more comfortable and backed up with guidance.

Here the mentors are none other but seniors who have accomplished something or the other in their respective fields, including but not limited to securing seats at one of the best graduate schools for their masters or getting into workforce straight out of college at some of the biggest firms, which by and large remains a coveted dream aspired by many.

Main resource person cum mentor for the session was Mr. Nipun Rana, final year student in department of Business Economics. Nipun having recently secured multiple admits for his masters at many of the coveted universities across the world, including the prestigious London School of Economics, outlined on How to Get started when aiming for something this big and for most part very challenging. He advised students on multiple fronts sharing anecdotes from his own experience. Preparing for GRE and which universities to apply for, how to shortlist them, he outlined all of these breaking them down in simplest of manner for the younger audience.

Out of all his learning and experience he also emphasised upon taking big shots without caring much about your insecurities and incapability which in his words are not incapability at all. He shared how his own counsellor advised him not to apply for LSE citing he does not have the required profile for the same but he anyway went on and took the shot only to later realise that it was worth taking the try! This left everyone in the room inspired.

The second speaker for the day was Mr Ritik Monga, final year student in department of Business Economics. He has recently qualified final placement rounds with Bain and DE Shaw. He apprised the students about how it is very important to select wisely between pursuing Higher Education or joining the corporate world after BBE. He also shared few tips and tricks to prepare for job interviews while emphasizing on attitude and confidence as the most important parameters of being judged.

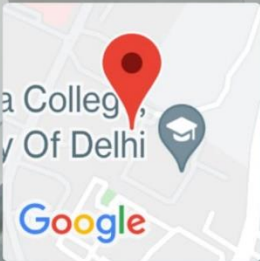

After going on for good 1 hour 30 minutes, session opened for Q & A and saw lot of queries from the audience which was comprehensibly answered by Mr. Nipun. Session ended with students thanking the mentor and him promising to be available as mentor for as many aspiring students as possible.
