

Seminar Report

The Department of Business Economics, Aryabhatta College organized a seminar on the topic Climate, Global Economy and Policy on 19th February 2019. The guest speaker for the seminar was Prof. Surender Kumar. He is a Professor in the Department of Economics, Delhi School of Economics, Delhi University.

The Seminar was attended by students of various courses. Prof. Surender kumar threw light on the impact climate change makes on the global economy and how it operates. He discussed about the anticipated damage of climate change, response of temperature change, effect on economic and agricultural production, GDP and the ways to come out of this problem.

The audience consisting mainly of Business Economics and Economics students specifically found the seminar to be very informative and intriguing. Prof. Surender held an interactive session with the students after his address. The seminar concluded with a token of gratitude to the speaker.