An intellectually stimulating event unfolded as the Finance and Investment Cell at Aryabhata College convened its first Group Discussion of the tenure on 5th February 2024. The topic under scrutiny was the Union Budget for Fiscal Year 2024-25, offering participants a platform to dissect and deliberate upon key economic policies and strategies.

Flow for the Group Discussion:

1. Interim vs. Full-Fledged Budget: Participants discussed the rationale behind presenting an interim budget and its implications for economic governance.
2. Budget Cuts in Education: Analysis was conducted on budget cuts affecting the education sector, particularly funding reductions for institutions such as UGCs and IIMs.
3. Absence of Economic Survey: Insights were shared regarding the absence of the economic survey this year and its potential implications on policy formulation.
3. Tax Benefits for Startups: The discussion focused on provisions for tax benefits to promote startup growth and their effectiveness in fostering entrepreneurship.
4. Space Technology and Solar Electrification: Participants explored the absence of specific benefits for space technology and the broader aim of solar electrification, evaluating their alignment with national priorities.

The discussion provided a platform for participants to engage in critical analysis, exchange diverse perspectives, and deepen their understanding of the intricacies of fiscal policy. Through rigorous debate and informed discourse, participants demonstrated their capacity to grapple with complex economic issues, reflecting the ethos of intellectual inquiry fostered by the Finance and Investment Cell at Aryabhata College.

This event is a testament to the cell's commitment to nurturing informed decision-makers and fostering a culture of intellectual engagement within the academic community.
