

Report

on Vibrance 2024

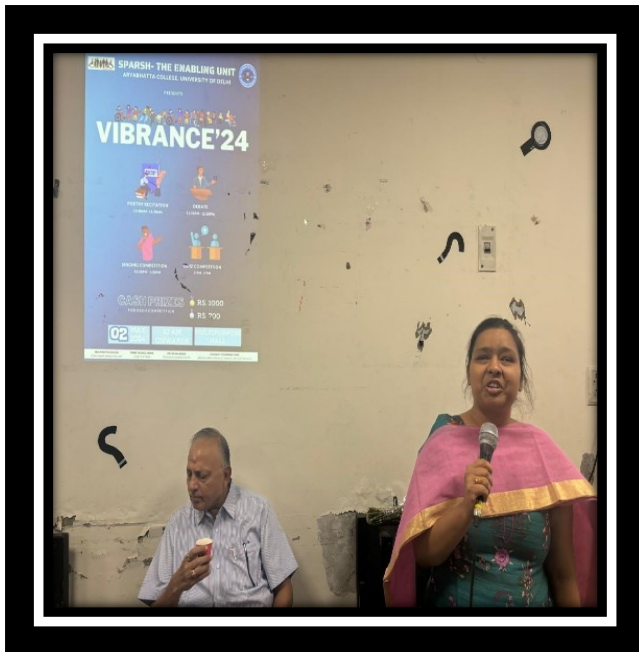

organised by Sparsh, The Enabling Unit of Aryabhata College under Equal Opportunity Cell

Date: May 2, 2024

Vibrance 2024 was the first ever cultural programme organised by Sparsh, the Enabling Unit of Aryabhata College which received a sizeable participation across the colleges of Delhi University and has been great success. The Annual Festival of the Cell was organised with a view to providing a platform for the students with disability of the colleges of DU to showcase their extra academic talents and skills. The event started at around morning 11 A.M. with the inauguration ceremony which was graced by the College Principal Prof. Manoj Sinha. He latter addressed the gathering consisting of faculty and students with disability. He stressed upon the need to leave aside the shame and stigma felt about one's disability and focus on college life like any other able-bodied student.

Post the inaugural ceremony the programme began with poetry recitation competition followed by Singing competition, Quiz and Debate competition. The students brought out their hidden talents and made the festival lively through their performances. The students of NSS unit of the college, the students from Political Science department as well as the Quiz Society students volunteered for the event in such a way that they assumed secondary roles that of assistants, enabling the PWD students to be the incharge their own event in college. programme's additional charm was this easy co-mingling of the able and disable students together. It was further enhanced by the growing feeling of warmth and friendship irrespective of their differences.

The programme concluded with the announcement of prizes and the address of the disabled faculty of the college.

The event would not have been possible without the support and financial assistance of the college administration and the Principal, Professor Sinha.

Preeti M. Gacche
Convenor
Sparsh, the Enabling Unit of Aryabhata College

